

CAPTAIN BONNIE

festive iodine compositions

The singer

Captain Bonnie is the stage name of Yolande Le Hen.

The singer, assisted by her accordionist husband and talented musicians, recorded her first CD of compositions on the theme of the sea.

The artist is a traveler: the West Indies, Tahiti.

She left the port of Kerroc'h for some warmth and to discover new horizons.

Then she returned to her native region and it was at Bieuzy-Lanvaux that she put down her bag overflowing with song projects.

Brittany never far away

Little daughter of fishermen from Kerroc'h, our adventurer has never forgotten her Breton land.

She tells us: "In Mooréa, everyone called me Breton! I had a trailer to sell my pancakes. When I had no clients, my husband would take the accordion and I would sing. "

The passion for music has constantly followed the artist and the diatonic accordion has always been there.

After the CD back to the stage

Yolande realizes her stage costumes.

By turns a long-distance sailor or a fierce privateer, she adorns herself with a captain's cap or accessories from the perfect filibuster: hat, saber and even parrot on the shoulder!

This author, performer worked for three years on her first CD which has just been released.

Called "Chantons Matelots", the album by this lover of the sea and Brittany, tackles many themes: complaints, poetry, sea songs, humorous songs, melodies to sing or dance.

The music, composed by her spouse, is also very varied between folk rock, symphonic music, Caribbean orchestra, bagad, hard rock.

Captain Bonnie is getting ready to go on board to meet his audience!
